A

Then dad came in.
 "It's only our house with the problem," he said. "Let's go to our neighbors."
 "But they're about 100 years old!" said Daisy.
 "DO YOU WANT TO KNOW THE SCORE OR NOT?" shouted dad. Together they walked to Mr and Mrs Mendoza's house. Mrs Mendoza opened the door. She was very old and wore a Bears T-shirt. "Don't tell me," she laughed. "Your TV isn't working."
 "Well, I ..." said dad. "Hey, let's have a party!" said Mr Mendoza. He was very old too and he wore a Colts T-shirt. "Bears fans go to the left of the room, Colts to the right. And don't cross that line in the middle!"

Then dad came in.
 "It's only our house," he said. "I'll go outside and check." Minutes later the kids heard a loud noise outside. Sam ran to the door, but he couldn't see his father. "I can't find dad!" he told the others. "Something bad has happened." Outside the weather became worse. The wind was very loud and there was a terrible snowstorm. "I think we should call the police," said Daisy. "We can't," said Sam, with the phone in his hand. "It's broken." Then, suddenly, they heard a scream. They ran to the window. Maybe dad was on the ground somewhere. Maybe he couldn't walk. But all they could see was snow, snow and more snow. "Where's dad?" shouted Tom Jr.
